

KONTOR NEW MEDIA AND QTRAX SIGN DIGITAL LICENCING AGREEMENT

NEW YORK -- May 27, 2008—Kontor New Media, a top European leader in digital distribution, and Qtrax, the world's first free and legal peer-to-peer (P2P) music service, today announce that they have signed a digital licensing agreement.

Kontor's business model works to ensure that its indie partner labels' music and music video content are featured in key download shops such as iTunes, Napster, FNAC, Beatport, Nokia Music Services, musicload, AOL – and now Qtrax. The Germany-based company works with hundreds of independent European music labels.

Kontor offers labels content management and distribution, sales and marketing services in stationary download campaigns and mobile entertainment campaigns, royalty management, and a myriad of other utilization avenues for digital distribution.

"We are excited to partner with Qtrax," said Kontor Managing Director Michael Pohl. "Our mission has always been to distribute artists' output in ways that keep them compensated and able to continue producing more music, as well as compensating their label for their investment. Qtrax helps to harness income lost to piracy, which is vital to keeping these artists making music for their fans," continued Pohl.

"Kontor New Media has consistently shown its commitment to representing artists and labels in the evolving music distribution market online," said Allan Klepfisz, Chairman and CEO of Qtrax. "From the outset, they have been true to a vision of digital distribution that is fair to everyone investing in an artists' success. We are delighted to be able to offer Kontor's catalogue of great artists and songwriters," continued Klepfisz.
